Shridhar K. Sathe, a food scientist in Florida State's College of Human Sciences, has been named the 2013-2014 Robert O. Lawton Distinguished Professor, the highest honor the university faculty bestows on one of their own.

"Dr. Sathe has spent his career identifying the components in beans and tree nuts that cause allergic reactions," said President Eric J. Barron. "His research is innovative, useful and internationally recognized, and I am extremely pleased that he has been selected as this year's Robert O. Lawton Distinguished Professor."

University lauds employee generosity toward beginnings of $1 billion campaign

More than 100 Florida State faculty and staff members joined President Eric J. Barron March 26 to celebrate the generous financial contributions they have made toward the university's first $1 billion campaign.

Since the start of the campaign on July 1, 2010, more than 1,400 faculty and staff members have provided more than $4.6 million in financial support to Florida State academics and athletics.

"I am so grateful for our dedicated faculty and staff. Every day, their hard work impacts the lives of students in many different ways. Giving to Florida State is yet another important way in which they have made a difference in the lives of our students," Barron said.

During the event, Janet Lenz, an assistant in the Department of Educational Psychology and Learning Systems and the program director for instruction, research and evaluation at the Career Center, and Naresh S. Dalal, the 2012-2013 Robert O. Lawton Distinguished Professor and the Dirac Professor of Chemistry and Biochemistry, shared with the audience their personal reasons for giving back to Florida State.

Andy Jhanji, executive vice president of the Florida State University Foundation, said the university anticipates launching the public phase of the campaign in fall 2014 and the faculty and staff campaign in spring 2015.

Faculty and staff members will find more information about the campaign and how they can get involved in upcoming issues of State.

myFSU portal for faculty, staff now available at my.fsu.edu

By Megan Del Debbio
UNIVERSITY COMMUNICATIONS

The new “myFSU” portal opened April 22 to Florida State faculty and staff members. The Faculty & Staff Community within the portal serves as a personalized gateway for managing time and work at the university.

The portal is a Web-based resource that consolidates important Florida State online resources in one location. The site uses single sign-on technology to enable users to log on once and access all major university applications, including HR, Blackboard and FSU Exchange email. The portal also enables Florida State employees to:

- retrieve personal HR and payroll data;
- manage work lists and receive notifications on management tasks;
- plan and monitor course management responsibilities; and
- access other job-specific applications and links.

Portal content is customized to the user and delivers a unique landing page to each individual. Once logged on, faculty and staff are directed to a personalized dashboard of tailored content and resources based on their role on campus. Faculty members also have access through the portal to additional course management tools for the fall 2013 term and beyond. A similar, student-targeted community in myFSU portal launched in early March 2013 with the new myFSU Student Central system.

In conjunction with the launch of myFSU portal, Oracle Business Intelligence (OBI) has been renamed myF-

SU Business Intelligence (myFSU BI) to align with other FSU systems. This system, accessible through myFSU portal, is the go-to resource for advanced reporting and analysis of information contained within our university systems. MyFSU BI features an array of dashboards and reports available to Florida State employees.

The portal can be accessed at <https://my.fsu.edu> with a current FSUID and password.

To learn more about the new Faculty & Staff community in myFSU portal, contact the FSU Service Center at 850-644-HELP or email the myFSU Portal Team at myfsusupport@fsu.edu.

Your colleagues are UFF members. You should be, too!

Only the UFF can provide a basis for negotiation of faculty rights with the University. Given the long history and current trend of collective bargaining in the United States, joining the UFF is the smart and quintessentially American thing to do.

- Dr. Scott Hannahs, Director, DC Facilities & Instrumentation Mag Lab, and American Physical Society Fellow

UFF protects faculty rights in an era of increasing assaults on academic freedom and reduced educational funding. I am proud to be a member of the Union, proud to belong to an organization dedicated to promoting the interests of the scholars who teach the next generation of American leaders.

- Dr. Diane Roberts, Professor, Department of English

After many years in the non-union Texas university system, I was pleased to join the UFF chapter when I arrived at FSU. It soon showed me its value by forcing the university to rescind the layoff decision that had badly damaged my department and others. I also appreciate the opportunities it affords for meeting concerned faculty from a wide variety of disciplines. Belonging to UFF-FSU is one of the good things about being on the faculty of FSU.

- Dr. Ian MacDonald, Professor of Oceanography, Department of Earth, Ocean, and Atmospheric Science

I'm proud to be a member of UFF, because we represent ALL faculty. As a member of the Collective Bargaining team, I have collaborated with tenured colleagues to negotiate key priorities for non-tenure track faculty: multiyear contracts, honorific professor titles, expanded opportunities for promotion, and more. Strengthening our membership benefits everyone.

- Nancy Kellett, Science Librarian, Dirac Science Library

- $50,000 in accidental death insurance
- Two free half-hour non-employment-related legal consultations
